

Curriculum vitae: Thomas Reininger

(born in Vienna, 1 February 1964)

1992:

Masters in Economics at the University of Economics, Vienna

1992 to 1993:

Assistant in the Auditing Company Auditor-Treuhand / Arthur Andersen, Vienna

1994 to 2000:

Raiffeisen Zentralbank (RZB), Department for Economics and Financial Market Research:

- Research and forecasting for Central and Eastern European economies, including inter alia Russia and Ukraine, with respect to economic development, exchange rates, interest rates, yields;
- Assisting in preparing the foundation of bank subsidiaries in Central and Eastern European countries, including inter alia Russia and Ukraine;
- Co-operating in the research project „The new capital markets in Central and Eastern Europe“, which was conducted by the RZB in cooperation with the Centre for European Economic Research (ZEW), Mannheim, on behalf of the European Capital Market Institute (ECMI) and resulted in the publication of a book.

Since 2000:

Oesterreichische Nationalbank (OeNB), Economic Analysis and Research Section, Foreign Research Division:

- Research on economic development, exchange rate and monetary policy issues as well as financial sector stability issues in Central and Eastern European countries
- Drafting of OeNB policy positions on Central and Eastern European countries